The readers of THE CAUCASIAN will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient streagth, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says; Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50 cents a bottle, at R. H. HOLLIDAY'S Drugstore.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found hers if benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at DR. R. H. HOLLIDAY'S Drugstore; large bottles 50 cents and one dollar.

THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Editor and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

Hon. C. W. Macune's and Col. L. L. Polk's speeches before the Senate Agricultural Committee, at Washington, a few days ago, were able and effective and will attract wide spread attention. Sorry that we havn't the room to comment at greater length and make quotations from them this week.

Many thanks to Hon. Z. B. Vance for his speech on the Montana election case. He never does anything by halves and is ever on the right path. A fearless, honest statesman. You had just as well undertake to remore the Andes Mountains as to oust him from his position in the United States Senate.

It seems to us that there ought to be one change made in the sub-Treasury Bill. It provides for government warehouses to be built in such counties as may market $500,000 worth of product. This amount is too large, will debar at least two thirds of the counties from the benefits sought after through the Bill. There are 3000 counties in the United States and according to the statistics there are less than a thousand counties that market produce to that amount.

Gov. Fowle yesterday received a letter from Hodgson & Vaughan, Oil Merchants at Philadelphia, in which they say: "The American people will overwhelmingly endorse the acts of your Legislature against trusts. North Carolina has the honor of being the first State to put her foot on the monster."—News and Observer.

The position af the wisest leaders of the Alliance, as we understand it, is that they believe in the Democratic theory of government: that the best government in the world is that in which the people are governed least, and in which men do not look to the government for anything which they can do for themselves. That is the ideal government. But, while holding this as the ideal in government, the farmers assert—and assert truly—that other classes have appealed to the government for protection and aid, and it has been granted at the expense of the farmers, many mechanics, and business and professional men, and that while the protected classes have grown rich the others have grown poorer year by year. Their complaint now is, not that they get no protection from the government. Not all, but they do complain because protection is given to others to their hurt.—State Chronicle.

THE AIM OF THE TWO PARTIES.

Ex-Speaker Carlisle in the May Forum, replying to Dawes' review of the administrtor says

It is true, as stated by Senator Dawes, that the issue between the two parties was clearly and sharply defined in the last campaign; but it is not true that the Democratic policy went down "before the current of popular disapproval." The Republican party was contending for the offices, and it got them. The Democratic Party was contending for a great principle which lies at the foundation of every government that recognizes the right of the citizen to the earnings of his own labor, and it received the approval of a majority of the people. Why it was that the offices were given to one party and the approval to the principles of the other, is a quest on that could be easily answered by a reference to the manipulation of voters by political managers in certain close and doubtful States.

SAMPSON'S BILL ARP.

A Farmer's Trials.--These New Fangled Days.

[Special Correspondence to THE CAUCASIAN.]

I like to plow right well, but when you go to planting cotton in a new ground where the roots are not all picked up, and a plenty of clods and they keep the planter knocked off about every ten steps, and your suspenders work down off of your shoulders and you feel like your pants were on a strike for a rest spell, and your shoes are full of dirt and got your toes cramped up so you can't walk good, and got an old mule that has had all the fine hair cut out of his ears to make him look younger and they then have filled up with dust so bad he can't hear good and looks like he had a good case of dispepsia and don't feel good no how. Your planter runs off and you hallow woe and the mule don't stop; you set back on the lines, the mule throws up his head, you fall flat of your back, the mule runs back with the vim of an ox when he is thirsty and starts to the head of a branch on a hot day, knocks the planter over, punch the handles in your side, the traces come unhitched and the mule goes over to the corn patch, nibbles at the corn that is up and looks like he had done nothing. What would you do? Would you lay still and grunt, or git up and fix your suspenders, or sit down on the planter and knock the dirt out of your shoes, go for the doctor catch the mule, quit ferming, or abuse the planter for being a new fangled thing and not worth anything because you could not hold it to its work. That is just about the farmer's fix; he don't know what to do. I tell you what lets do. Let us go back to first principles, get us an old wooden jack dagger, burst that ridge right wide open, put the seed down by hand, way down in the moist earth, where the drouth won't touch them and get a roller and roll the earth on and see if we don't make a crop. These new fangled things are all right if we have got the first principles, but somebody has got to get out these roots and clods. We can't quit the farm, so we might as well prepare for it. Our fathers prepared for us and we had better look sharp, for all the work they have done has grown up in brier patches and old field pines, and if we don't begin to hustle we wont leave our children any more of a start than we had when we first discovered America. Not as good, because we have used all the timber and wore out the soil. These new fadgled ways and things we have been using have just about ruined the country. We have got new fangled everything now a days. There is new faugled machinery. Why the steam mills have run all the water mills out of existence, and I ain't had no good bread in ten years. Then I ain't got no where to fish when I go to mill, unless its around the valves and cocks of the engine. and then the fireman hallows at me to quit before I blow the thing up. New fangled politics, you can't tell a Democrat from a Republican; this swivel service allows him to stay in office as long as he keeps his mouth shut and pays both sides campaign funds. New fangled religion. They preach so much love until some members of the congregation fall in love with each other and commit more sin than if you were to preach a little hell-fire at them. Better make them afraid of the devil if they neither love God nor respect the laws or morality. New fangled education. I saw a little child the other day take up a book and read right along, and I did not think he had time to learn his letters. I covered up the picture at the top of the page and he could not read a word, and he could not spell out the word because he did not know his letters. I thought there would be a glorious day for artists drawing pictures for the coming generation to read by. We will have a literature of pictures. There is another case of trying to put the seed in the ground before we break the clods. You teach the child to read by sight and not to think.

They have a new fangled way of making us keep up the public schools. The white children have to stay home and work the land to pay the taxes on it, so the negro children can go to school, and his mammy takes out of your kitchen enough at night to feed him next day. I ain't opposed to education. But you say education does not stop crime. I agree with you. It is better to have a polished scoundrel than a vulgar devil. In acquiring knowledge to become a gentlemanly villian you may strike something to turn him in the right direction and make a good man. That chance is to run. If they would substitute the Bible in the schools in the place of hygene, I would not be surprised if they didnot see a change in morality.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

Many Sound Views on the Great and Important Question.

By Allison (History of Europe.)

The evils complained of arose from the unavoidable result of a stationary currency, co-existing with a rapid increase in the numbers and transactions of mankind, and there were only aggravated by every addition made to the energies and productive powers of society. But if an increase in the numbers and industry of men co-exists with a diminution in the circulating medium by which their transactions are carried on, the most serious evils await society, and the whole relations of its different classes to each other will be speedily changed; and it is in that state of things that the sayings proves true, "that the rich are every day growing richer, and the poor poorer.

(By Faucett.)

The increased burden of debt, the increase of traffic (thus requiring a larger volume of the circulating medium,) and the demonetization of silver, have all contributed to increase the value of gold beyond its equitable value as a measure for values of commodities. The era of golden debt, like the era of gold, has had its culmination, and the causes at work are now preparing the way for some new era in financial affairs which will, in all probability, be as unique as either of the two which have preceded it-

(By Prof. A. L. Perry.)

Price is indeed only a case under the class values, but practically it becomes a very important thing in Political Economy, because the value of almost all exchangeable things is determined through price. So far as commodities, personal services and claims are exchanged against each other directly, without the intervention of money or the use of the denominations of money, price plays no part, though value does; but these cases are few and insignificant as compared with the whole. It is hardly necessary to add, that price, though relative, is specific and not general, and consequently that there may be a general rise or fall of prices. If the money of a country becomes relatively more abundant than before, general prices will rise in that country for reasons already made apparent; and when money becomes less abundant, prices will fall for corresponding reasons.

THE COMMITTEE ADJOURNED.

The Railroad Committee Completes Its Work and Adjourns Till June.

The railroad investigation committee having concluded all the work that it can accomplish at present, adjourned yesterday morning till June 17, having given instructions that certain information which could not be furnished by some of the railroads at this term be produced at the next meeting.

Before adjourning yesterday morning Mr. M. E. Carter arose and said that a publication had been made in a morning daily published in this city which reflected upon Senator E. W. Kerr, a member of the committee. He wished to testify himself to his knowledge of Senator Kerr's fidelity in his connection with the committee and to his competency in aiding in that work and proposed that the committee take official action expressive of their sense as to the valuable services of Senator Kerr, the able and conscientious Senator from Sampson. The others expressed themselves as fully concurning with Mr. Carter in his view of the matter. Senator Kerr, however, expressed his wish that no notice be taken of the occurrence, and the committee deferred to his request.—News and Observer.

THE OPINION OF OUR READERS ON THE VARIOUS TOPICS OF THE DAY.

We offer this column to our readers in which to discuss topics of interest and profit to them

THE MONETIZATION OF LAND.

BY F. R. COOPER.

No. 3.

Every man has a natural right to the products of his own labor and skill, but if one could enjoy only the work of his own hands he would be cut off from many of the comforts and luxuries of existence, and any high degree of skill in any pursuit would be unattainable by reason of the great diversity of occupations into which each would be driven to supply his wants. Each would be a jack of all trades and therefore good at none. In a pure savage state this is largely the case but the first beams of civilization bring the interchange of products and the division of labor. The man who has learned to make shoes well would be in sorry plight if he could not exchange his surplus shoes for such other things as he needs. When the shoemaker wants a hat he takes a pair of his shoes and makes a trade with the barefooted hatmaker much to the advantage of both. This is barter and in the most ancient times was the only commerce. Many difficulties attended this system. The shoemaker and the hatter could not readily meet each other and hence the necessity for each to deposit his product with a third party, to await the convenience of the other. Thus merchandising began. But the products of one man differed largely in value from those of another and some measure of value became necessary as a medium of exchange, and this was the origin of money. To understand any question it is of the utmost importance to fix clearly in the mind a correct definition of the subject. For instance a plow is an instrument with which a farmer cultivates his crops, and money is nothing more or less than an instrument with which people effect their exchanges. And as it is a great advantage to farmers for plows to be cheap, so it is a great gain to all people for money to be cheap,

Tracing the history of trade we shall find that man immediately after emerging from a savage state began to adopt various measures of value to circulate as currency, and do the work in a rude way that is now performed by money. There is reason to believe that cattle constituted the earliest medium of exchange. We read in Homer that the armor of Diomed cost twelve oxen, while the earliest Roman coins bore the device of a sheep and were doubtless intended to represent a sheep in value. Many of these coins taken together would represent a flock of sheep, and as a flock or herd was in the Roman tongue called "pecus" so naturally an accumulation of these coins was called "pecunia" or wealth. Here then we may note the germ of two ideas which have ever since been gradually developing, that money is the representative of value, and that the measure of the value which it represents, depends upon the flat of law. As civilization advanced the cattle currency was found too cumbersome and various metals began to be used as money, principally gold and silver, though the Spartans used iron. This metalic currency was for a long time purely a matter of weight. Traders carried their balances with them and paid for such things as they bought by weighing out the agreed weight of metal. The trouble required to do this would naturally suggest the expediency of marking the weight of each peice in moments of leisure and then gradually as civilization advanced money was coined, that is, its value determined and stamped upon it by authority of law. The earliest reference to money that we have in history is found in the Bible where Abraham bought the cave of Machpheln for a burrial place from the sons of Heth for four hundred shekels of silver, current money with the merchant.

Secretary Tracy has declined to permit the Marine band to participate in the Lee statue services at Richmond, Va., on May the 29th, saying that its services will be needed elsewhere at that time.

Christian Echoes.

Religious Miscellany--Sermon Reports--General Church News and Notes.

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

DR. B. F. MARABLE.

Dr. Marable's sermon in the Clinton Presbyterian church last Sabbath was directed against the evils, sins and crimes that so frequently arise from the rush and haste of men now a days to grow rich and gain political promotion. His characterization, of the little, conceited, egolistical, hairbraind, brassy, self-asserting and domagogical politian aspiring for positions beyond his caleber, capacity and fitness was especially rich and forcible. The pulpit of North Carolina is not graced by a better judge of human nature—one who has a keener insight into the notions of men, than Dr, B. F. Marable, and this is one of the keys to his great fame, popularity and effectness as a public character guide, deacon educator.

BISHOP A. A. WATSON.

Rt.Rev.Bishop Watson preached two well prepared and thoughtful sermons at the Eposciple church of Clinton on last Sabbath. The great central point—the focus of his morning srmon amounted to this: That we were adults and rational beaing and that each of us could and should read, search and study the scripture for ourselves. That each and every Christian man should and would keep his own spiritual fire burning. The man whose religion, to be kept glowing, needed to be found each week by his merits, had but little or no religion. Judge G.aves was pleased with the discourse and said that the above statement was a good sermon within itself.

His sermon at night on communion was pronounced by Dr. Marable to be a fine logical and catholic orthodox presentation of the theme.

QUARTERLY MEETING SAMPSON CIRCUIT.

(Special Correspondence.)

Our second Quarterly Meeting has just passed, but has left many pleasant impressions. The weather was good. Nearly all the official members present, and in good spirit. Bro. Swindell our much beloved presiding elder was on time, and in fine preaching order. We all enjoyed the services, above the average. because the Lord was with his people The business was attended to with a vim, characteristic of Sampson Methodism, and would have convinced the most incredulous that business was meant. Congregation on Sunday was large and attentive, Love feast, preaching, dinner and communion service was the order. It was an enjoyable season, a time of refreshing, from the presence of the Lord. $4,80 raised to defray the expenses of delegates to G. Conference next quarterly conference for the charge will meet at Hall's. J. E. B.

CHARITY VS THE CITY POLITICIAN.

The New York Post reports a powerful sermon delivered by Rev. Thos. Dixon before the Y. M. C. A. of New York last Sabbath. He dealt the city politician and his corrupt dealings in Municipal government severe blows with ungloved hands. In closing he says:—

"We must establish the fact that the city government is here to save the people, and not the politician. How wild this would seem to a city politician of to day. His idea is that the city government exists to provide soft places for the Jimmies the Johnnies, the Mikes, the Gillhoolies, the O'Croogens, and the O'Toolies.

"What shall we do, then, by way of practical charity? Shall we take up a hat collection of pennies to relieve suffering here or there, or shall we see that the city government fulfils the end of its creation? Our city officials, now, many of them, have nothing to do except to draw their salaries. Some of them find this so onerous a task that it is necessary to provide partners to assist them. It is estimated that 500 children die a week, in the summer, in New York, for the lack of medical attention. Shall we take up a penny collection, or shall we, out of the office of the city chamberlain or sheriff, provide a fund that will be large enough to relieve every case of want during the whole year?

"The laws of our city should embody the moral sentiment of the people. The law, today, is miles behind the moral sentiment. What can you do? You can talk, you can howl, you can write, you can growl, you can vote, you can fight, and you can help every other man who is doing likewise. Let every Christian man be a messenger of the living God to do this work. Never let up, until law shall embody the true moral sentiment of the community. And then press on and educate the people further, until an open career and equal opportunity shall be the heritage of all."

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

DRESS.

It is every woman's duty, first to herself, second to her family, and third to society to appear neat, attractive and to an advantage in every way possible.

Artistic simplicity is the proper term to characterize the dainty toilets that fashion has decreed for the summer campaign.

"The pullback" is the most exclusive and select of English designs for a walking costume. But this style is only suitable for heavy material such as brocade cloth, serge or velvet lined satin. Then, too, there is the necessity for learning how to walk. The regular heel and toe will not do. The glide only is indorsed. This movement consists in advancing on the toes, with a rigid knee, but a free hip. To bend the knee is to break the gore in the pull back.

Rubber corsets, high collars and a swaggering outfit is the latest fad with the girls for spring sutings.

Printed silks, in all their floral beauty. show exceedingly clever reproductions from mother nature.

The popularity of the blouse continues unabated. Even the most dressy fabrics for evening wear are fashioned after this model.

Black and white effects are considered unique. A stylish costume of black French lace is fairly showered with white ribbons.

The dictum has gone forth that hats are to remain small. Black lace embroidered with white is one of the popular novelties.

All over embroidered bodices and sleeves are worn with cloth skirts. A beautiful model is a mouse-grey, the bodice being embroidered with gold, silver, and steel.

WORRY AND FRET.

Men worry and women fret. A fretting man is unusual, and a woman who wears herself out with worry unaccompanied with fretting is not common. Both are manifestations of a common failing, however, and fretting is only worse so far as it compels others to share the victim's unhappiness. It is a trite saying that fret and worry kill more people than hard work, and very many men and women realizing the truth of this, have gone successfully to work to conquer the miserable habit. It is harder to do this where the tendency is inherited, but it can be done, and where it is an acquired habit the task is easy for a determined spirit. The way to stop is to stop —Good Housekeeping.

SILVER COINAGE.

The coinage of silver is discussed in the May number of The Forum by Mr. Frederick A. Sawyer, formerly United States Senator from South Carolina, and subsequently assistant Secretary of the Treasury. His argument is to show that the coinage of silver with an effort to make it of equal value with gold is not only futile but dangerous to the stability of prices. He shows that the relative value of silver to gold is not affected by the coinage of money, but that it fluctuates in proportion to the supply and demand, as the value of all other commodities fluctuates. The relative value of these two metals has varied within historic times from 1 to 6 to 1 to 23.

William Kemmler, now in Auburn jail, New York, convicted of murder, will pay the death penalty this week by Electrocution. He will be the first criminal in the history of the world to met his end by such an exquisite refinement of punishment.

Children's Corner.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO OUR YOUNG READERS.

HIS FATE.

A child, a fine little fellow of 8 years, said something of which his mother disapproved, and she proceeded to reason with him

"I do not like to hear you speak in that manner. You mean to be funny, but you are simply rude."

The little fellow burst into tears, and said, amid his sobs:

"There, mother, you have the secret of my life. I am always meaning to be funny, and I turn out rude."

Poor boy! He was not alone in his affliction.

This true story is told of a little relative of Mr. T. A. Trollope, who had learned in childhood, says Examiner, what some people are half a lifetime in finding out.

The McKinley Bill is being punctured by all hands. By the time it gets back to first hands its father will not own it. Then its bastardy will be acknowledged.

We acknowledge receipt of an invitation to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and Industry, which was held last Tuesday. Sorry that we could not be present.

The affliction by lost of life and property that has befallen the people of the lower Mississippi Valley by the unprecedented floods sweeping away the levees, is simply terrible. Congress has appropriated $150,000 to relieve the sufferers.

What will the Republicans do for fire-wood when the bloody shirt disappears? There is not enough of the old garment left to make a "hippin" for Tom Reed. They say he weighs 300 lbs, but grand mammy Harrison's hat will about fit him, he thinks.

The recent articles in the Sun and world are specimens of the many violations of decency and truth that these two cosmopolitan Journals thrive in. The damage they do only recoils on their own heads. "Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just."

The Seventh Annual Session of "The North Carolina's Teachers' Assembly" will be held in their Buildings at Morehead City, from June 17th to July 1st. These meetings are productive of great good to all concerned. We return thanks for a ticket to attend, and shall be on hand if nothing prevents.

The Trustees of the Baptist Female College have selected a site for the new institution, It is the Adams and Pullen property, on East Edenton street, with portions of the McKee and Grissom property, on the same square, near the Capitol. The purchase price agreed on is $34.500. Mr. N. B. Broughton is chairman of the building committee.

The Pan-America delegates who were to pass down the W. & W. Railroad last week on their southern tour were ordered back from Richmond. The number, only 4 or 5 of the whole delegation, who started was too small for the expense. Such is the influence of a Radical administrator towards the South. Would they not all have come under a Democratic administration?

Richard H. Edmonds editor of the Baltimore Manufacturers Record, has written a valuable pamplet entitled "The Souths Redemption from Poverty to Prosperity," and the subject is treated in a masterly and instructive way. It can but do much good, and should be universally read. The Manufactures Record is doing a wonderful work for the South. We ar indebted to the A. C. L. for a copy of the same bound in neat phamplet form.

Czar Reed in his speech at Pittsburg, Pa., has joined Foraker and in the bloody shirt brigade, and like them all, will soon enter "some vast contiguity of shade" in disgrace. Methods such as indulged in by politicians of that stripe only intensifies the disgrace when it does come, and come it will. Reed "will be shaken by many winds," and the music that is so harmonious to the South haters, will be so discordant that no intelligent and fair mind will be entertained by it Like gad flies, that play around a lighted candle, they at last enter the flame and are consumed.

We have just received State Auditor, G. W. Sanderlin's Report for 1880. It comes handsomely bound and is the neatest State Auditors's report we have ever seen. It contains much valuable information, showing in minute detail the receipts and disbursements of the public funds. The Auditor's report for 1888 showed that there was $72,000 in the Treasury, this report shows only $16,000, and if the Treasurer had not sold a large amount of state 4 per cent bonds there would have been a considerable deficit. This falling off of the public funds was caused by the action of the Legislature reducing the tax on the $100 worth of property from 30 to 25 cents, and also by the lost of the drummers' license tax. Thus one Legislature prepars trouble for the next.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

We are sorry to have to disappoint our readers again this week by not continuing an account of the discussions at the Sampson County Farmers' Institute, but we are forced to do so for want of space. We can't add another column to the paper conveniently nor stretch those that we have. However, we are glad to see that our farmer readers are anxious to see and read the remainder of the discussions. It is a good sign. We will be sure to give it all in full before we quit.

Crops Reports.

The Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin for the week ending Friday, April 25th, 1890, says: The uninterrupted mildness of the winter months of this season developed fruit and vegetables to an unusual degree, and enabled farmers to accomplish good work in preparation for the coming season by putting land in first-class condition for planting. At the end of the winter everything looked green and the buds of fruit trees were in an advanced state, promising an abundant crop. During March, however, the temperature fell rapidly to the normal or slightly below and the heavy frosts damaged fruit especially, and wheat, oats, etc, to some extent. Favorable weather during April greatly improved wheat and oats, and probably the damage to fruit, excepting peaches and plums, may not be so great as was anticipated. On the whole, on the commencement of the issue of Crop Bulletin it may be said that the prospects for the coming season are very fair.

The reports of correspondents for the week ending Friday, April 25th, are generally favorable, though the temperature during the early part of the week was below the average, and frosts occurred on the mornings of the 19th and 20th, killing tender vegetables, melon vines, nipping young corn and injuring tobacco plants. Most correspondents remark, however. that the injury is not nearly so great as was apprehended.

REMARKS OF SPECIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Eastern District. Clinton, Sampson county—"On Saturday, the 19th inst., this section had a severe frost, but not so serious as was thought at first. Cotton planting has commenced this week." Weldon, Halifax county. "Frosts on the 20th, lighter on the 21st and slight on the 22d. Some vegetables nipped a little, but nothing like so badly as was apprehended. Taken altogether, things are doing well." Wilmington, New Hanover county. "The melon crop in this vicinity was seriously damaged by the frosts of the 19th and 20th, and in most instances the entire crop will be replanted." Nashville, Nash county. "The last few days the weather has been moderate and warm. Early in the week frost killed some vegetables in gardens, and tobacco plants where not protected." Clarkton, Bladen county. "The week entered very cold for the season, with frost which killed some corn and cotton and injured all more or less" Richardson, Bladen county.—"Temperature varied from 36 to 87 degrees. No rain fell during the week. On the whole we have a good season."

H. B BATTLE, PH. D., Director.

Alliance Department.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

A GOOD SHOWING.

A number of parties have objected to using the fertilizer adopted as the official guano of the Farmers' Alliance, claiming that it did not come up to the guaranteed standard, and we understand that there are those who hold high positions in the Order who have used other brands, not recommended by the Alliance, in preference to it. Mr. Worth, the State Business Agent, has a guarantee from the company manufacturing this guano, that the ingredients that go into each ton shall be worth not less than $17.50 before any of the cost of manipulating, etc., is expended. To settle this matter, Mr. John R. Cooper, the Business Agent of Salem Alliance had a sample of this guano sent to the Agricultural Experiment Station at Raleigh for analysis by Dr. Battle, the Director. We have his analysis before us, which is as follows :

Soluble Phosphoric Acid,	6.36	pr ct.,
Revested "	" 2.15	"
or Available "	" 8.51	"
Insoluble "	" 1.98	"
Ammonia,	2.21	"
Potash,	2.70	"

Now estimating the phosphoric acid at 5 cents per pound; the ammonia 13 cents per pound, and potash 5 cents per pound, the ingredients alone of a ton of this guano are worth $18.18, or 68 cents more than the guaranteed value, while we understand that the average analysis from samples taken from all over the State, show even a higher value than this.

This is an excellent showing and we wish to congratulate Business Agent Worth, and the manufacturers of this guano upon it. Also we wish to congratulate the farmers upon the fact that if they must use the stuff, that they are getting more valuable ingredients for the same money through the agency of the Alliance, than ever before.

BLUFF ALLIANCE, NO. 577.

Mr. Editor: Please state in your excellent paper that the regular meetings of Bluff Alliance No. 577, have been changed to Saturday before the 4th Sunday in each month at 2 p. m. sharp; only one meeting per month. We have also established a Farmers' Institute in connection with our Alliance business, as suggested by the County Lecturer before our lodge, and the subject for discussion at our May meeting is, "Is guano really a benefit to the farmer." Can't you furnish a plan to conduct an institute and publish it in your paper? the most expeditions method is what I want; have one of my own, but want yours as you are more conversant with institutes of the kind, I having never attended one.

Yours Fratenally, W. J. C. Sec'y.

P. S. Please state also that I forwarded April 21st to the Secretary N. F. A. & I. U. the 5c per capita due on the Oct. returns to Secretary S. Co. F. A. I forwarded it to the Nat. Sec'y. so as there would be no further delay. It would have been sent sooner, but we used all the Treasury money to assist an unfortunate brother, and raised the per capita by subscription.

W. J. C.

[We are very much pleased, gratified that you have established the Institute feature in connection with your Alliance business at each meeting of your lodge. We would suggest that you manage it something like the County Farmers' Institute are conducted. That you appoint some member to prepare a paper, or talk it off-hand, giving his experience and observation with reference to the use of guano and his opinion as to its value and the general effect produced by its use upon the farmer and the fertility of the soil. Have a question box, and while this discussion is going on let every one who wishes to ask a question or point out any error or mistake, write such questions on a slip of paper and drop it into the box. When your speaker has finished, have your secretary to take out the questions and read them, stopping after each for general discussions. Your lodge should secure literature, facts and statistics in advance on the subjects to be discussed and furnish it to the appointed to lead off in the discussions. But some plan that you would devise yourselves, might work better than this.—Ed.]

PUBLIC ADDRESS.

In response to an invitation, Mr. J.D.Ezzell delivered a public lecture at the lodge of Hall's Alliance on he 12th of April. It was interesting and to the point and had a good effect. The following is an outline of his speech:—

The cause of the present condition of the people began in 1861 and has been growing from bad to worse.

The government lost the power of controlling the finances of the country. This created the most corrupt banking system since the begining of the Republic. Unlike the decade preceding 1860, when money was more equally distributed among the people, our legislative bodies were not made up then as now with millionaires, whose sole interest is in monopolistic banking and combines.

The high rate of interest and scarcity of money growing out of this transfer of the power of money into the hands of the national bank, has been grinding and sapping the very life of the country.

The toiling masses have risen in their might and power and ask to be recognized by the great law-making power of the country. What do we see as the out growth of this positive demand?

The corrupt power that has been concealed behind the throne, is be gining to shake, and the Sub-Treasury Plan, by which the people will be relieved is receiving a warm support.

The people are becoming more informed, not as to technicalities so much, but working up as to their true condition. The producers of 7,000,000 bales of cotton with a proportional amount of grain, are learning that their best interest is not connected with the political clique or ring-caucus.

Sec'y of Hall's Alliance.

Look After the Little Ones.

S. S. S. is the remedy for children because it is a simple vegetable compound, prepared from the roots gathered from the forests, and contains no mineral at all nor any poison of any kind. It cures by eliminating the impurities of the blood, thus assisting nature.

If there is or has been any consumption in your family, you should give your children S. S. S. It will gently stimulate the action of the lungs, and enable nature to properly develop the child. If there is scrofula, you should not fail to give S. S. S. It is the only remedy which has ever cured this disease. For boils, pimples, blotches, etc., on children S. S. S. is superior to all other medicines. It acts gently, it forces out the impurities and builds up the child from the first dose.

We will mail a treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases to all who will send their address to us.

"Every Spring,"

Says one of the best housewives in New England, "We feel the necessity of taking a good medicine to purify the blood, and we all take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It keeps the children free from humors, my husband says it gives him a good appetite, and for myself I am sure I could never do all my work if it was not for this splendid medicine. It makes me feel strong and cheerful, and I am never troubled with headache or that tired feeling, as I used to be."

—The editor of the Burgaw Herald says: Quite a number of gentlemen in the county have confidentially told us that they have been approached on the subject of becoming candidates for the Legislature.

—The Mount Olive Telegram made its appearance last week much improved. It has emerged from a six column patent outside to an eight column all-home-print paper. It starts on its third year with colors flying and every assurance of success.

—Our pretty town is the talk not only of the town but also of the town's every visitor. But in fact the citizens of the town had not discovered that it was pretty till strangers told them so. But this is perfectly natural, since all life's pleasures, enjoyments and happiness are relative.

—The day for a town like Clinton to build up and grow from merchandising alone is passed. If half of the capital that is invested in this manner were put in manufacturing enterprises, five years would see this town more than doubled in size and real estate more than doubled in value. This state of affairs not only presents food for reflection, but also a necessity for action.

—While every stranger is struck with the beauty of our town,—what nature has done for it, yet if he will walk around and see what art has also done—the result of the exquisite artistic taste and the love for the beautiful, (as evidenced in the flower decked front yards of many of the residences,) of the queens that there reside, he will be more pleased than ever.

—Our readers must excuse any errors that appear in this issue for the Editor is absent attending the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee at Magnolia, advocating the claims of Clinton as the place for the holding of the next convention, and we are glad to announce that we have just received a telegram from him stating that he is successful.

JOHN R. WEDDING, Foreman.

—Mr. Everett Turner of this place has invented and patented a device for fastening mail bags. It is not a lock but a simple and convenient contrivance to take the place of the tedious leather strap. We understand that the Postmaster General has expressed himself as pleased with the invention and may adopt it. If he does so, Mr. Turner is a lucky man, for a snug little fortune would be his reward.

—A few dayss ince we were in the bank and saw Mr. T. Sloan depositing some money and noticed that he called for the certificate of deposit to be made in the name of his twelve-year-old son, Haywood. Inquiry as to his object in using his son's name, we were surprised to learn that Mr. Sloan was simply acting as agent for his son. He said that he gave his boy Saturday of each week in which to make money to buy his clothes, etc., "and this," he said, (holding up the bank's certificate for $10,) "is how much he has saved, and has deposited in the last few months after buying his clothes." We also learned that this young financier had made several deposits of an equal amount before. This should point a moral for other boys, without any further comment.

—One of the Gothic-American cottages, which Capt. Wm. A. Johnson is having constructed on Johnson street is finished, and is now being tastily painted. It is decidedly the neatest, prettiest and most convenient cottage in town We are glad to see such buildings erected, for they will be a pleasure and comfort to the occupants and an ornament to the town. We hope that others when building will follow his example, and put the material into a shape that will be at once artistic, harmonious, pleasing and beautiful. Engineer Johnson has rented this ideal house and will move into it as soon as the painting is finished.

CLINTON GETS

THE NEXT CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

To be Held Wednesday, July 23d.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

MAGNOLIA, N. C., April 30th, 1890.

Pursuant to a call issued by T. J. Armstrong, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of the Third Congressional District, met here to-day. The following are the members of the Committee:

For Pender—T. J. Armstrong.
For Sampson—J. W. S. Robinson.
For Bladen—R. S. White.
For Cumberland—A. McBuie.
For Duplin—R. C. Broadhurst.
For Harnett—F. J. Swain.
For Moore—D. C. McIver.
Onslow—J. W. Spicer.
Wayne—Owen Holmes.

The members from Sampson, Cumberland, Wayne, Duplin and Pendet were the only ones present.

The Convention was called to order at 11 o'clock a. m. by Chairman Armstrong, and Mr. Marion Butler, editor of THE CAUCASIAN, who was present, was invited to a seat in the meeting and made Secretary.

A number of places were put in nomination and voted for, and after a contest Clinton won the prize. Yes, Clinton was selected as the place, and July 23rd as the time for holding the next Convention, and right royally will our county entertain them.

M. B.

SAMPSON SUPERIOR COURT.

Many Important Cases—The Judge's Clear and Lengthy Charge.

His Honor, Judge Graves opened the spring term of the Sampson Superior Court Monday morning promptly at 10 o'clock. The following Grand Jurry was drawn from the venire, published several weeks since:

D. F. Colwell, John M. Faison, D. W. Williams, F. W. Herring, Lee Fennell, R. L. Wilson, James Jackson, J. A. Weeks, W. B. Murphy, D. W. Bland, J. A. Fort, O. H. Darden, W. M. Draguhon, Ed. Barbrey, E. Barefoot, Willie J. Faircloth, L. S. Bell, M. M. Fennell.

Mr. D. F. Colwell of Harrells Store was made foreman. His Honor's charged to them was lengthy but unsually clear, logical and forcible. He commenced with a discussion of the nature of a Democratic form if government, showing the necessity for the three great divisions of such a government into Legislative, Judicial and Executive Departments. Each separate and distinct, yet each complementary to the others. The first makes the law, the rule of action, prescribing what must be done or is right, and prohibiting what is wrong; and fixes a penalty for the violation of this rule of action. The second the judicial department determins what the law has been violated and names the penalty. The third, the decesion of the second department, the courts. You gentlemen of the Grand Jury, are for this term of the court, a part of the court, and the remainder of the court is powerless ferret one wrong and the Executive department is poweless to punish such wrong except through the intratory steps taken by you. The law is made for the protection of life, liberty, reputation and property, and the protection of the peace and happiness of society in your county is in your hands. It is your duty to pretect society not only by making deligent inquiry and true presentant of every violation of law in your county, but also to protect any and every member of society by seeing that he is not horrassed and dragged into court on any charge whatever unless there appears sufficent evidence to justify further investigation in open court. It is a great responsibility and if the county commissioners have done their duty in selecting you as a part of this court, then this court will do its duty towards society. You are not left to perform this grave and important task without any assistance, for it is your duty any time after hearing this charge, to call upon the Judge (who is supposed to know the law thoroughly) to explain more fully any point on which you have the least doubt. The Judge then went on to classify and define the various offenses that usually come before the courts and to explain the law that applies to each. Sorry that we haven't space to give these, but in view of the fact that a capital crime will come before this term of court we will give his definition of the three kinds of crimes committed in taking human life:—MURDER is killing with malice afore thought. Any killing is murder if there are no mitigating circumstances. MANSLAUGHTER is killing without malice, for instance when one man kills another accidently. Every killing that is unlawful is manslaughter, even if there was no intention of crime.

HOMICIDE is killing in self defence or to prevent one from committing a crime, equally as serious, that is about to be committed, there being no other possible way of preventing it. But to make a claim of self defense, the party himself must have been without fault. Rape, murder, arson and burglary of the 1st degree are the only crimes to prevent the perpetration of which life may be taken. The only important case tried up to the time of going to press is the Butler murder case, an account of which will be seen in another column.

TRIAL FOR LIFE!

AVERY BUTLER, THE UNNATURAL SON WHO KILLED HIS FATHER ARRAIGNED BEFORE THE BAR OF JUSTICE.

The Jury Empanneled to Say What Penalty He Shall Pay for the Terrible Deed.

THE STORY AND EVIDENCE OF A COLDBLOODED AND SHOCKING CRIME.

On Tuesday evening a venire of 100 men outside of the town of Clinton was summoned to appear before the court on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. On Wednesday, out of this number, ten men only were selected to sit on the jury. A special venire of 20 men more was summoned, from which to select the remaining two jurymen. At 4 P. M. the jury was completed, which is as follows: F. M. Carroll, T. Y. Fennel, A. T. Herring, Allen Blackburn, W. K. Pigford, H. J. Duncan, J. B. Ezzell, Joseph Warren, J. D. McPhail, G. R. Boykin, Thos. Kelly, J. M. Pearson.

The jury was empanneled and the court proceeded to the examination of witnesses.

Louie Underwood said on examination that he passed the place of shooting a little before 12 o'clock on that day and saw Avery Butler near said place (15 yards) with a double-barreled gun.

Thos. Wilson: He is a blacksmith and works in the shop of W. T. Williamson. Avery Butler was at the shop on April 10th, two days before the shooting, and cut off a slug from a rod of iron the same size of this piece (showing the piece found in the spine of the murdered man) upon an autopsy and asked how much powder it would take to kill a man with it forty feet off.

R. J. Boykin said that he was at work about one hundred yards from the deceased when shot, working for Mr. Thomas Boykin. He heard some one hollow "O, Lord!" and call for help. He ran to him and found Ed. N. Butler lying on the ground with blood running from a wound in the hip. Butler's wife came down and they toted him to the house.

Dr. J. A. Stevens, the physician who attended the murdered man and made the autopsy, assisted by Dr. Holliday, was next called. At this time we go to press. The court will meet this morning at 9:30 and continue the trial. The remainder of the evidence will be given in full next week.

Carolina Veneer Works.

The large double story addition to this new large Southern enterprise located at Clinton is completed. In the front of this addition are the offices of Mr. A. F. Johnson, the proprietor, and H. B. Chesnutt, the Superintendent. The inside finishing of the office of the former done with oiled sweet-gum and cypress is a model of elegant neatness. The front yard is to be turfed, and adorned with flowers and a fountain. This addition doubles the rack room the drying room capacity and therefore virtually the capacity of the butter dish department, for the great trouble heretofore has been to dry the forms fast enough for the stamping machines. The capacity now is a quarter of a million, with a half a million forms ahead of the machines. The factory is running at its full and increased capacity and is still unable to fill orders as fast as received. Two car loads of dishes and one car load of berry baskets were shipped yesterday. And on account of the superior quality of these goods, they are not only in great demand but are selling at 5 per cent. more than the same kind of goods made by any other factory in the world. An addition is being added to the plaining department to make room for another plaining machine. On account of the excessive dry weather the supply of water from the springs becoming short, a hydraulic pump that is a marvel of simple ingenuity, was placed in Dollars branch yesterday to increase the supply. The factory has a great advantage in a fine supply of suitable wood; while in the Veneer department we saw a tremendous block of gum hoisted into one of the Veneer machines and was told that it weighed 2500 pounds; just think of it, the weight of five large bales of cotton. On every side there is push and hurry. Yet each employee moves with the precision and regularity of the machines themselves. While in this mammouth hive of busy industry it is difficult for one to realize that he is still in the staid old rural district of Sampson, but rather feels as if he were translated to the manufacturing quarters of some great busy metropotlis.

School Closings.

Invitations have just been printed from THE CAUCASIAN Job Office for the commencement exercises of the following schools:

Hayne Academy, Friday, May 16th; annual address to be delivered by Senator E. W. Kerr.

Salem High School, Thursday and Friday, May 22nd and 23rd; annual address by Prof. B. F. Grady, of Duplin county.

Clement Model School, Friday, May 30th; annual address by Marion Butler, Esq.

We have not learned the date of the closing exercises of Goshen High School, but the address will be delivered by the able and talented C. B. Aycock, of Goldsboro.

Glenwood High School will close on May 16th. The address will be delivered by Rev. D. H. Tuttle.

Duplin Items.

[Special Correspondent.]

The long dry spell is broken, and gentle showers are lending smiles to our truckers and farmers, who had become somewhat despondent. Hail storms passed South and North of us on last Sunday and did considerable damage to berries and vegetables.

Mr. Thos. Watson of Kenansville, one of our most honored and worthy citizens, died at his home last Friday of heart failure. Internal injuries received from a fall some days since, supposed to have hastened the end. The sorrowing family have our sympathies.

Mr. T. M. Moore of Warsaw, N.C. has moved to Georgia.

Miss Sallie Whitfield one of the most accomplished ladies of Lenoir county, is visiting Miss L. M. Moore of Duplin.

Politics seem to be the absorbing topic of conversation, and one has only to go to church these days to see who are candidates. It is strange nevertheless true, that so many take the Lords day to electioneer!

The farmers' Alliance, the most popular organization of its kind in the world, has done much for the alleviation of our distressed farmers, and from what we can see and learn, several thousand dollars will be saved to this class of our people this year, by those who are able to do so, becoming surety for the poor, thus enabling them to obtain supplies at wholesale rates. If they will only exercise the same judgment and prudence in politics that they have in other affairs, the good of the Alliance will be incalculable. During the winter, most of our farmers were distressed by "labor agents" inducing the negroes to leave for Georgia, Mississippi and other states, but since the disquiet has been settled, it is difficult to realize that a single one has left, so many still remaining to be fed clothed and schooled by the whites. We are not opposed to "free schools" but opposed to the present form of supporting them. Let each race do its own paying, and we will be content, and not until then will the honest white men of our country be satisfied.

From our standpoint of observation, and we have been over much of the county recently. We think that this will prove to be one of the most prosperous years in our history with our horny handed sons of toil; there being more attention paid to small grain and cereals generally and less money wasted on commercial fertilizers and cotton crops, besides hogs are more numerous than since the war.

CORRESPONDENT.

Dry-kiln and Planing Establishment.

The mammoth lumber factory of Messrs. Stewart & Hines is nearing completion. Yesterday steam from the new sixty-horse power boiler was turned into the large air boiler with its 4,500 feet of piping. The big engine was put in motion, and the big fan in the end of the chamber of heated air began to revolve and pump the hot air into the large and spacious dry kilns, stocked with lumber, that will soon be hurrying on its way to the Northern markets. The capacity of the dry kilns is 45,000 feet and at least 15 feet can be turned out from the planing machines each day for shipment. This is a large and important industry and will add to the general boom which our growing and prospering town is already enjoying. Success to their get up and enterprise. We hope that others will catch the same spirit and that is may become a real contagion till dozens of such enterprises add to the hum of industry—enterprises that CREATE wealth, turn the table and draw money into this section.

—We were over a few evenings since to see the vineyard started by Mr. J. S. Bizzell, our effecent clerk of the Superior court. He has 1400 trees on about one acre and a half, the rows are 8 feet apart and the vines in the row 6 feet apart. The majority of the vines are of the champion variety. They show a vigerous growth being only 2 years old are now loaded with young grapes. These vines will probably this year average about 5 pounds of grapes, which Mr. Bizzell will ship. Last year he shipped as early as June 26th These prapes sell for from 5 to 15 cents a pound, and often early in the season being at a fancy price. Now let us see what profit he will realize from this acre and a half of ground. At 5 lbs to the vine, 1400 vines will make 7,000 lbs of grapes and now suppose his net profit on each pound is only 2 cents, then he will clear above all expenses $140. this year on the little patch of ground, similar to hundreds of other patches lying around us idle. We hope and expect that Mr. Bizzell's success in this line will cause a happy and profitable revolution in this section. We believe that there is no finer grape section in this State than this county. The grape industry is a big and paying one around Raleigh and certainly we have an advantage in soil and climite. Capt. Partrick also has a young vineyard started and is enthusiastic over his success and the outlook.

Wanted—A good appetite. You can have it easy enough by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It tones the digestion and cures sick headache.

Personals.

Mr. F. P. Jones, of the Dunn Bar, was in town last week.

Mr. J. E. Peterson, the popular Mayor of Goldsboro, paid our town a visit yesterday.

Engineer C. S. Johnson went down to Wilmington Saturday to attend the convention of Locomotive Engineers.

Little Lessie Gregory, only ten years of age, bought a ticket last Monday morning for Lansburg, Ga., and left alone for that place. She will visit her sister, Mrs. McMillan.

The following visiting attorneys are in attendance at the present term of court: Messrs. W. R. Allen, C. B. Aycock and Richard W. Nixon, of Goldsboro; John Kerr, of Delta, Herbert McClammy, of Wilmington; and H. L. Stevens, of Warsaw. Our popular Solicitor, O. H. Allen, is, of course, on hand ably guarding the interests of the State.

Religious Notice.

The Rev. C. L. Arnold, of Wilmington, will visit Clinton next week to hold a series of services in the Episcopal Church here. The proposed services will begin on Monday evening, May 5th, at 8 o'clock, and the "Mission will continue throughout the week and the following Sunday, May 11th.

MOUNT OLIVE DEPARTMENT.

LOCAL ITEMS:

—Mr. Davis Bell's wife died at their home in the country last Saturday.

—Capt. Herbert Maxwell of the W. C. & A. R. R. is in town visiting his parents.

—Our strawberry growers are shipping large quantities of that delicious fruit to the northern markets daily.

—Mr. John C. McCullen's wife died on the 15th, of consumption at their home in the country. She left a baby only a few months old, we sympathize with her stricken husband and parents.

—Rev. W. J. Rodgers preached in the Baptist church last Sunday morning and night. We heard him and was very much pleased with him. The Baptist congregation at this place has called him to preach for them. We haven't heard whether he has accepted the call or not.

The verdict has been rendered favorable to THE TELEGRAM, everyone is pleased at the marked improvement. We look for a larger list of patrons, and must insist on all the friends of advancement to come to our aid. A review of our columns will show that every department of home and farm, every feature that is to be nurtured is carefully presented in its pages. It is the only paper in the county that presents such care and attention for its patrons. We ask you all to meet us in that spirit of support that our efforts deserve, if you will uphold us in a substantial way, you will see greater attention and improvement. Don't wait to be asked for what you are due, but come and aid us. It takes cash to pay for the work and material and it must come every week. Aid us friends.

—Burglars broke open and entered the store of Mess. J. R. Hatch and W. G. Davis & Co., Wednesday night of last week and stole a considerable amount of goods. They got from Mr. Hatch about $20,00 worth and from Mess. Davis & Co., about $50,00 worth. They also took from Mr. R. Kornegay's store a lot of tobacco, pocket knives &c. It being connected with W. G. Davis & Co's store by a partition Door. Mess. Hatch & Davis heard early next morning that two strange negro boys answering to the description of two who were seen on our streets the day before were in Goldsboro so they made haste in that direction and they soon had one of them in jail at Goldsboro. The other darkey was most too early for them and had left the city. They however soon learned that he had gone down near Wilmington. They were auxious for him so Mess. D. W. Kelly and W. G. Davis went down the road Monday morning and found the negro under a bed in his mother's house 4 miles east of Wilmington. They arrested and brought him up. They are now in jail at Goldsboro awaiting their trial at Wayne county's next term of court. Mr. Davis' store was occupied at night by Mr. B. F. Lee who was asleep in the building at the time of the burglary. The robbers will therefore be tried for their lives and may swing and stretch hemp.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

SILOAM LODGE, No. 178, A. F and A. M., A. L., No. 5890, March 20th, 1890.

It is with profound sorrow and deep regret that we chronicle the death of our esteemed brother, K. B. POWERS, who departed this life at his late residence, in Pender county, North Carolina on the morning of February 22d, A. D., 1890.

Resolved, That we, the members of this body will ever keep in remembrance those characteristics so clearly set forth in our order and so beautifully set forth in his daily life and occupation.

Resolved, That in his death his lodge has sustained an irreparable loss, his family a devoted husband and loving father, and his community an honored and useful citizen.

Resolved That we strive to imitate his virtues and his inflexible fidelity to his trust, that we may be so faithful to our duties in life as he was to his. As a Confederate Soldier he entered service as a private, and against his most earnest protest was promoted. He was a true Confederate Soldier, let us be thus faithful, that we may when the grim tyrant Death arrives be given an eternal abiding place in the Celestial Lodge above where the Supreme Architect of the universe ever presides.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased and to THE CLINTON CAUCASIAN, Orphan's Friend, Wilmington Star and Burgaw Herald, with request for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

IN MEMORIAM.

Died, on the 23d of March, 1890, Mrs. LAURA KENNEDY, wife of Mr. James T. Kennedy, of Turkey township, in the 32nd year of her age. The very affecting funeral sermon was preached on the day following by Rev. J. L. Stewart, at New Hope church. She had been a good member of the Baptist Church for thirteen years. With a truly devoted husband, whose unspeakable grief really seems beyond the depth of ordinary sorrow, she leaves four small children; little Minnie the youngest, being only eleven months old. It is useless to expatiate on the sublime qualities of this inestimable lady, but will say in truth that her high-toned amiability, won for her the respect, esteem, and admiration of all her large circle of friends and acquaintances; and though the four little orphans are too young to realize the sad loss of a tender mother, we trust that the fostering care of a good christian father, and the blessings and tender mercies of Him who "clotheth the liliss of the field," and "tempers the shorn lamb," will shield these little ones. To the ever true, tender and affectionate husband, we offer our sincerest and deepest sympathy, in his lonely and saddened days of affliction.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

Mrs. Person's Remedy will Cure Cancer.

Ringwood, N. C., May 2, 1887.

Mrs. Joe Person—Dear Madam:—Most gladly do I give you my name to place before the public, bearing testimony of the miraculous cure effected on me by your most valuable Remedy. Fifteen years ago I was troubled by what seemed to be little scales appearing on the right side of my cheek, under the eye, resembling dry meal bran, which I could remove when I shaved, but they would return again in a short time. Soon an enlargement appeared under the same eye, attended with itching and burning sensations, and sharp, darting pains from the affected place to the eye, causing great difficulty in closing the eye, even to sleep. Sometimes it would feel better, but never at any time disappear. Some physicians pronounced it eczema, others chronic erysipelas, and all advised me to let it alone. This I did until two years ago, when a little scab began to form right under the eye, resembling a wart, which I could not remove; in size and appearance it soon grew to be as large as a strawberry, and the scabs came off and left the place entirely raw. Having fear of a cancer, I began to use various kinds of salves to heal it up, but never could. I consulted with physicians of great experience; they said it looked suspicious of it, and advised me to have it cut or burnt out at once. I did not wish to do either, and being persuaded it was in my blood, I resolved to try your Remedy, as it had been recommended to me. I did so with the most happy results. I can say I am a well man. I cannot say too much for your Remedy; it is worth its weight in gold. Before I had used one bottle I was hopeful, and at the expiration of five weeks the sore was entirely healed, the scales or roughness on the skin all gone, and I felt like a new man. I will give any one similarly affected any further information they may desire, and can only say if the public will give your Remedy a trial, it will speak for itself, and your success will know no bounds. God speed the day that must dawn upon your future prosperity!

Yours most truly,

JAS. CARTER ARRINGTON.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 2 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

Shakespearian Club.

The last regular meeting of the Shakespearian club of Clinton, on the 25th ult., was an anniversary and memorial meeting, the 23d of April, being the day of Shakespeare's birth and death. Nearly every member was present and prepared. A review of that excellent, entertaining and instructive work, "Judith Shakespeare," had been added to the program. The increased interest shown in the discussions and the superior merit of the various exercises and productions, insures beyond question that the club is a great success and has a long lease of usefulness before it. Mr. F. R. Cooper's article, on the question of the authorship of some of the Shakespeare plays, was voted the best, and ordered to be published. We are sure that all readers of Shakepeare will enjoy it. It is as follows:

THE BACONIAN-SHAKESPEARIAN CONTROVERSY.

The question as to who wrote Shakespeare's Plays is very similar to one that puzzled us in the days of our youth: "Who was the father of Zebedee's children?" We must be permitted, lawyer like, to refer to this case as an authority, being an adjudication upon a point very similar to the one now in issue.

We are not sure that any one has ever doubted the authorship of Shakespeare's Plays. We know that one Ignatius Donnelly, a Michigander, which in the mellow Indian tongue, we suppose would mean a big goose (see Longfellow's Hiawatha) displayed a few years ago very great ingenuity in an attempt to show by means of a mysterious cypher running through the plays that Lord Francis Bacon was the author of the immortal comedies and tragedies usually ascribed to Sir Billie. This cypher nonsense of Donnelly reminds us of a story told by one of the triumvirate Pope, Gay or Bolingbroke of a certain English antiquary who, thinking he had found an old Roman shield, lost no doubt by the soldiers of Agricola or Cæsar, was proceeding to elaborate his theory at great length, but when the critics came to examine his treasure it was unanimously voted to be nothing but an old pot lid. We are likewise reminded of a great discovery made by the immortal Pickwick soon after the organization of the famous club of which he was the distinguished head. Upon one of his expeditions he found in the yard of an humble peasant who lived in one of the historic old villages of England a stone curiously shaped and evidently much worn by time, covered with strange devices which might turn out to be the mystic figures of the Druids, or surely something else equally wonderful. For a small sum he joyfully purchased the inestimable relic from the peasant, and after washing and drying the stone it was carefully packed away and sent to London. The club was then called together to consider the great discovery. Upon the stone was written the cabalistic letters B. i. l. l. s. t. u. m. p. s. x h. i. s. m. a. r. k. Many theories were propounded and much learning called forth in the effort to discover the antiquity of the stone and the meaning of the strange inscription. After much debate, frequent adjournments, and learned essays a certain unappreciative member of the club not having a proper reverence of the great Pickwick before his eyes brought in the peasant in whose yard the stone was found. The peasant said that he could give the club no information as to the antiquity of the stone though he deemed it about as ancient as most stones but as for the inscription he had carved it with his jack-knife in a moment of idleness, and it was nothing but his name Bill Stumps, his mark. We may well doubt that Donnelly himself believed in his theory, and certain it is that he made no permanent impression upon the literary world. He succeeded in getting his name temporarily in the papers thus winning a little brief notoriety, but the only interest that now attaches to him is similar to that which centers around any other antiquated ruin. But while all are agreed as to the identity of the person who wrote the dramas in question there is a well founded diversity of opinion as to the name of the author, Shakespeare, Shakespere and Shakespeare, all have their champions, but when we remember the simplicity of the days in which he lived we are satisfied that his real name was Bill, though perhaps like one of the many odd characters found in Dickens he may have perfered to call himself upon occasions of pomp and ceremony "Willum." Be this as it is (we use the word is here advisedly with the deliberate purpose of shocking the world which up to date in this connection has always said "may" though it meant can, might, could or any other word) he was no servile imitator of the aforesaid Dickensian characters as we are led to believe by the fact that the said Willum lived much before Dickens, and one of the common faults of our ancestors is a failure to imitate the virtues and crowning glories of their posterity.

You'd scarce expect one of my age,
To have known Shakespeare on the stage, and therefore we cannot add the weight of our personal testimony in this matter, but let it suffice to say that the authorship of Shakespeare's Plays was always attributed by his contemporaries to Shakespeare himself. It was reserved to this age in imitation of the redoubtable Woulter Von Twiller of Knickerbocker fame to "have their doubts."

Many years ago a similar discussion was commenced as to the authorship of the Illiad and Odyssey, until that time universally attributed to Homer and the blind old bard of Chio's rocky isle has been robbed of much of his honor and we may yet be told by some earth astounding critic whose dictum shall be as the nod of Jove himself that the great American bucolic poem, beginning with such a touch of meaning sweetness in it, "Mary had a little lamb" was written by Gen. George Washington while crossing the Delaware one cold stormy night on his way to attack the Hessians at Trenton, and that the sentiments of the poem were inspired by his great need of wool upon that occasion while the meter may have been suggested by the eddying rush of the waters which would of course remind one of the confusion of a school-room and the plaintive bleating of a lamb in the midst thereof.

It may be that some future antiquarian turning over the mouldy records of the past will discover that U. S. Grant, under the title of "Let Us Have Peace," wrote the great Epic of America, only a short fragment of which he would doubtless say, has come down to us, beginning "Let dogs delight to bark and bite, for 'tis their nature to"

But we digress. The author of Hamlet never could have written the Advancement of Learning, and the author of the Novum Organum, the profoundest work of merely human origin the world has ever seen, could not by the labor of years have created the character of Falstaff. Bacon and Shakespeare were mental antipodes and the only reason we have for supposing that Bacon ever indulged in what Milton terms the jingling of like endings is the fact that all truly great men as the author of Jonathan Wild would observe, have a knack of falling into rhyme occasionally, a pertinent instance of which may be noted near the middle of this essay.

The Executive Committee reported the following program for the next meeting which will be held at the residence of Capt. Wm. A. Johnson's:

Play—Hamlet, Prince of Denmark.
T. M. Lee, Ethical Side.
S. C. Faison, Quotations.
Nela Fowle, History.
J. C. Slocumb, Polonius.
E. L. Faison, Laertes.
Mittie Beaman, Ophelia.
F. R. Cooper, Hamlet.
Miss Lee, Horatio.

The Mistakes of Critics.

Archdeacon Farrar has in the May number of The Forum an article to show that criticism has more often made mistakes than it has foretold the judgment of posterity. He collects a long list of facts to prove that nearly every important original work in English literature has been damned by the critics when first published, and in the most amiable temper he declares that he himself has hardly seen during his long career as an author a literary criticism from which he has gained help. The article contains a large group of interesting literary reminiscences covering a long period.

Belford's Magazine is a splendid publication and filled with choice reading. The last article of Hon. Jefferson Davis appears in the May number, entitled "Historical Vindication of Secession, like all his writings, is ably done.
